Project- 2

A Lightweight Secure Data Sharing Scheme for Mobile Cloud Computing   06/2022 – 09/ 2022

Adikavi Nannaya University/ SKBR PG College, Amalapuram

- The paper talks about how risky it is to store personal data on mobile devices that connect to the cloud. It suggests a solution called Lightweight Data Sharing Scheme (LDSS) to make it safer. LDSS uses a method called CP-ABE to control who can access data, but it changes how it works to fit mobile devices better. LDSS also moves hard tasks away from mobile devices to other servers to make things easier. It makes revoking access to data simpler and cheaper too. Tests show LDSS can cut down on the work mobile devices have to do when sharing data in the cloud, making things safer and faster.
- Technologies used: Language: Java(jdk8.0), IDE: Net Beans 8.0, backend: MySQL, OS: windows 8.
- Implemented in web environment using JSON and Struts framework. The Apache tomcat is used as the web server and windows xp professional is used as the platform Interface the user interface is based on Struts provides HTML Tag.
